

Expectations for Parents:

- Parents should communicate with child before school about after school activities.
- If your child's normal activities are different, please send a note or e-mail teacher before lunch.
- Please check your child's S.T.A.R. binder every night. Take out papers that have been graded and send to school any forms that need to be filled out.
- Remind your child to complete and return homework that is sent home nightly or weekly. This homework may include weekly spelling words, math packets, and reading.
- Help your child with homework assignments. Home will ALWAYS be practice or review of a skill previously taught in the classroom. Therefore, homework is expected to be done by the student. If your child has difficulty with a problem it is okay to help, however, if your child does not understand the concept please indicate this on the paper so that I can work with them to insure that they understand.
- Allow your student to do what he/she can do and should do for themselves. (Example: Make it the student's job to put homework into his/her backpack.)
- Set appropriate limits using enforceable statements, and offer choices that provides opportunities for the student to do the greatest amount of thinking and decision-making.
- Provide your child with equal shares of consequences and empathy – an absence of parental anger causes a child to think and learn from his or her mistakes.
- Create a consistent, safe homework time and place for your student.
- Make sure your child is prepared for school. Regular attendance and punctuality is essential for success! Backpacks, S.T.A.R binder, school supplies, snack, etc.
- Attend Student Shared Learning, meetings, and conferences to understand our classroom management and specific needs of your child.
- Please insure that your contact information is up to date with both the office and me in case of emergency. This is for the safety of your child.
